Amendments To Constitution Proposed

Plan To Abolish All Semi-annual Meetings Of Students' Society

Watt And Seybold Moot Changes in Constitution of Society — Amendment to be Ratified at Next Gathering of Students Shortly — Meetings May Still be Called by President or at Request of 25 Members — Plan to Ensure Against Election by Acclamation to Presidency.

Several amendments to the constitution of the Students' Society of McGill University which, if ratified at the next meeting of the society, will do away completely with the semi-annual meetings, are proposed by Alastair Watt, Law representative to the Students' Executive Council and seconded by Hugh Seybold, president of the McGill Union.

Although the article in providing that a meeting of the Students' Society may be called on three days notice by the president or on the written request of twenty-five members of the society will be left in the constitution, it is proposed to abolish completely the clause calling for the annual meetings in October and March.

Ensure Against Acclamation

Another important amendment planned to ensure that the president of the Students' Society will not be elected by acclamation due to the apathetic attitude of students is proposed. This provides that if there is but one nomination for the office made by the time nominations close, the secretary shall advertise the fact in the McGill Daily and the period shall be extended for 48 hours.

Due to the fact that it has been necessary in the past few years to postpone the meetings of the Students' Society time and time again because of the lack of the necessary quorum of 100 students a situation has arisen at McGill where action is considered absolutely essential.

This year particularly when the revenues of the Students' Society have shrunk considerably, and when the amount that should be expended on the various activities is a matter of vital importance, the refusal of the student body at large to attend the meeting called for last week is considered in many circles as a sign that these decisions might well be left to the complete discretion of the Students' Executive Council.

Council Will Control

If the proposed amendments to the constitution are passed at the next meeting of the Society to be held shortly, almost complete control of student activities will be placed in the hands of the Council. Within the past five years few meetings have been called at the request of 25 students, or by the president, and whether any will be so called if the amendments are passed is a debatable point.

An amendment to the constitution relating to the moving and ratification of sub-amendments is also proposed for the approval of students at the next meeting of the Students' Society.

Valuable Advice For Pre-Med. Students

In an address to pre-medical students in Room 20 of the Arts Building on Friday last, Professor J. C. Simpson, the Secretary of the Faculty of Medicine, stated that it is necessary to apply for entrance to the Faculty of Medicine. Application should be made in March of the year in which the student wishes to enter, and forms for this may be obtained at the Registrar's Office.

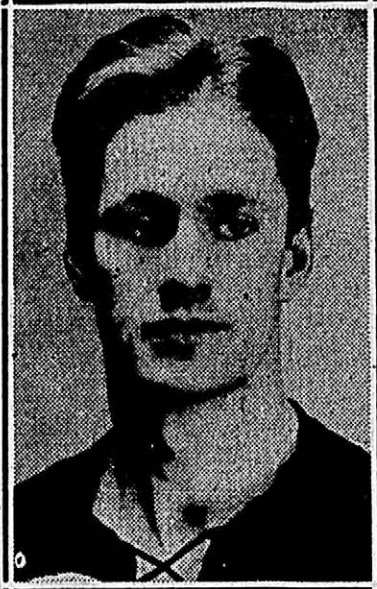

Professor Simpson also stated that in order to practice medicine a license must be obtained from a licensing board. Also, it is necessary to be registered with that board to obtain a license. In the Province of Quebec the requirements for registration are as follows: The student must have a B.A. or a B.Sc. degree or, failing that, he must take examinations conducted by the Quebec Licensing Board. There is no other way to register.

All students from the Province of Quebec are advised to obtain a syllabus of the examinations from Dr. J. Gauvreau, 354 St. Catherine St., East. Professor Simpson will be at the disposal of any students desiring to discuss their course.

Freshman Elections

Elections for officers of the Freshman Class of the Faculty of Arts and Science will be held in Moyse Hall on Tuesday morning, immediately following the Eng. 2 lecture. All first year men in the faculty are expected to vote.

PROPOSES AMENDMENT

ALASTAIR WATT, Law representative to the Students' Executive Council and former president of the Arts Undergraduate Society who is proposing an important amendment to the constitution of the McGill Students' Society which will do away completely with the semi-annual meetings of the Society.

Success Of Soviet Enterprise Certain

Eugene Forsey Discusses Conditions Prevalent in Russia

EDUCATION DOGMATIC

People Unheld Communism And Youth Reveals Enthusiasm

"The Soviet State is the greatest social enterprise the world has ever known. The system is here to stay; it will never go back to capitalism," claimed Mr. E. Forsey, assistant professor of Economics, addressing the House of Commons Club at their first meeting this session in the Reading Room of the Royal Victoria College on Friday night.

To understand what Soviet Russia is doing one must "get things in their proper balance, see them in perspective, and against the proper background." Russia before the Great War was about the most backward country in Eastern Europe. The War hurt the Industrial portion and the Civil War devastated a large part of the country. The Revolutionists had to modernize the country and to bring a mass of filthy, ignorant, wretched peasants into a modern world and under a completely new system of society; a stupendous, gigantic piece of work.

Spirit Impresses

"It is the spirit of confidence, enthusiasm, keenness and aliveness in the faces, especially of the young people that impresses one most. The youth of the country is behind them. To them it means a Path to Life, stated Mr. Forsey.

In the Soviet Union the child's future is secure. He has the best education the country can afford to give him and is maintained by the community while he studies. In their University they have already found truth. Their education is dogmatic, it is permeated with Marxism, which to them is the basis of everything.

Object To Capitalism

Executive Meeting

Delta Sigma Society Plans Novel Program

At the executive meeting of the Delta Sigma Society, which took place last Friday, the program for Thursday's entertainment was planned. The meeting will take place at 4 p.m. in the Common Room of R. V. C. and gives promise of being extremely interesting, owing to the novel idea of having the items take the form of articles from a magazine.

In addition, explanations will be given of the freshe and the system of class debates.

PROPOSED AMENDMENTS TO THE CONSTITUTION

THE several amendments to the constitution of the Students' Society of McGill University which are proposed by Alastair Watt, representative from the Faculty of Law to the Students' Executive Council and seconded by Hugh Seybold, president of the McGill Union are outlined below.

1. That article 8, sections (1) and (2) of the constitution shall be deleted. These sections read:

(1) There shall be an annual meeting of the Students' Society on the third Wednesday in October at which the financial statement of the society for the financial year ending on the thirtieth day of June previous, shall be presented for adoption, and

(2) There shall be a semi-annual meeting of the Students' Society on the third Wednesday in March at which reports of the various committees for the current financial year shall be presented for adoption.

2. That in section (3) of article 8 of the constitution, which reads:

Special meetings may be called on three days notice by the President or on the written request of twenty-five members of the Students' Society.

The word "special" be deleted.

3. That article 5 section (b) of the constitution which reads in part:

The president shall be elected annually between the first day of March and the semi-annual meeting of the Students' Society, be changed to read:

The president shall be elected annually between the first day of March and the fifteenth of March.

4. That to article 5 section (b) which also provides for the presentation of nominations for the presidency of the Society signed by any 50 members in writing to the Secretary at least ten days before the date of election be added:

Should only one person be nominated for the post at the date set for the close of nominations the date for closing of nominations shall be extended 48 hours and notice thereof published in the McGill Daily.

5. That article 4 section (2) which reads:

An annual financial statement of the society and the various committees under its control for the past college year shall be published in the McGill Daily before the annual meeting in October, be changed to read: "before the fifteenth of October".

6. That to Article 10 of the constitution which reads: This constitution may be amended by two-thirds vote at a general meeting of the Society provided two weeks notice is given and published in the McGill Daily be added:

Sub-amendments shall be carried by a two-thirds majority of those present at any general meeting of the society, provided one week's notice is given and published in the McGill Daily. If this notice is not given the sub-amendment may be made on the floor of the meeting, in which case a majority of three-quarters of the members present shall be necessary for its adoption.

Conversat Replaced By Frosh Prom At Union

Is Informal And Takes Place Tomorrow Evening in Ballroom

THE Conversat is a thing of the past and a Freshman-Freshette Prom will be substituted for it, the Union House Committee decided over the week-end. It will be run along the same general lines as the conversat, being primarily intended for the newcomers to McGill.

It will take place tomorrow evening in the Union Ball Room, and will be strictly informal. As in other years, freshmen and freshettes will be admitted free; a list of their names being in the hands of the doorman. Upper-classmen will be charged a fee of fifty cents each.

For the benefit of those ignorant of the procedure the following information is given. On entering each person is given a tag on which to write their name, and a dance tally. The tag should be attached in some prominent place where it can be plainly seen. Before the dancing commences the tally cards should be filled out.

Previous to each number the girls all group themselves by the letter of the alphabet with which their last name starts; the letters are arranged about the room. Thus there is little difficulty in discovering one's partner. In addition to ordinary dancing there will be Jaul Joneses, and possibly some kind of games. Refreshments will also be served.

Lande is Elected to Debating Union Post

Harold Lande has been elected by acclamation to the vice-presidency of the McGill Debating Union.

Lande who was one of the members of the debating team, which was the only one to bring the intercollegiate debating championship to this university, has been on the standing committee of the debating Union for the past three years.

He is at present in the third year in the Law Faculty, and in 1929 won the Allan Oliver gold medal and graduate fellowship in economics.

Well Known Doctor Will Lecture Here

On Friday evening, October 28th, Dr. Chevalier Jackson of Philadelphia will give a lecture in Moyse Hall at eight o'clock, under the auspices of the Alpha Omega Alpha.

Dr. Jackson who is a well known medical authority, has for his subject "Post-Operative Pulmonary Complications." The lecture is to be illustrated with lantern slides and moving pictures. All members of the medical profession and all medical students are invited to attend.

Newfoundland Club Meets

Tomorrow evening at 8:15, members of the Newfoundland Club, meet for the first time this year, in Strathcona Hall. Professor Forsey of the Department of Economics will be the present and lend their support.

BRITISH DEBATERS

IVOR JONES HECTOR McNEILL
Ivor Jones and Hector McNeill, members of the British Debating team which is touring Canada, and which arrives in Montreal this evening... Tonight they meet the Junior Board of Trade Debaters; and on Wednesday evening a McGill team, composed of Edmund Collard, President of the McGill Debating Union, and Arthur Marshall, winner of the Bovey Shield three years ago. They will also meet Macdonald College on Friday. During their stay here, they will be extensively entertained.

British Debaters Arrive Here Today

Ivor Jones And Hector McNeill Oppose McGill Wednesday Night

DEBATE IN R.V.C.

Extensive Program of Entertainment Planned During Stay

The present season's first collegiate debating team to open a tour in this country composed of Ivor Jones of Wales and Hector McNeill of Glasgow, Scotland, is arriving in Montreal this afternoon. The debaters will make their first platform appearance in this city tonight at the Junior Board of Trade, and on Wednesday at McGill. This latter occasion will open up a series of debates at McGill University, and it is expected that a large audience will be present at this debate, admission to which is free, both to pupils and students.

The first-mentioned debate will be a closed one in the exchange hall of the Board of Trade, for the members of the Junior Board only. In this the British team will take the negative of the subject, "Resolved that democracy in the last ten years has proved to be a failure." The local group will be represented by J. Joseph O'Grady and Van A. Macnaughten, who will take the affirmative.

Prosperity or Adversity

Of special interest to the McGill student body and the public in general, will be the debate on Wednesday evening, at 8:15 at the Royal Victoria College. The subject chosen for this occasion is, "Resolved that man only exists in prosperity and lives in adversity." The McGill Debating Union will be represented by its President and Secretary, Edmund Collard and

R.M.C. Mourns Loss Of Cadet M. A. Buck

Drowned While Trying To Get Aid For Companions

KINGSTON, ONT., Oct. 23.—The Royal Military College has been in a state of mourning since Thursday last when an excursion of six cadets in a sailboat ended tragically with the drowning of M. A. Buck, member of the second year class and one of the mainstays of the senior rugby team.

The party set out Thursday evening but owing to a sudden squall, they were unable to return and were forced to land on a small island. Two of the cadets decided to swim to the mainland and send assistance to the remaining four cadets. After they had got well on their way to the mainland, Cadet Buck decided to follow them. He started across after the other two and when about half-way, he was heard to shout for help. The others turned about to assist him but they were unable to find any trace of him. Search for the body proved fruitless until Saturday noon when it was found some distance below the island. An examination showed that the probable cause of the fatality was a cramp in the leg muscles.

RICHARDSON STADIUM
Kingston, Ont., October 22.—A belated start nearly spelled another defeat for the Queen's University senior twelve here on Saturday, when, trailing by eight points at the beginning of the third quarter, the sensational broken-field running of Paul Davoud and the sterling kicking of Captain Howie Carter inspired them just enough to hold the McGill grid squad to a 12-all tie.

Varsity Beat Western

The University of Toronto footballers forgot to act the perfect hosts to the invading Western Mustangs, and took them into camp by a 7-6 count in the Queen City. As a result, Varsity has gained undisputed possession of first place with three wins and no loss; McGill is second with one victory, one defeat, and one draw; Western is third and Queen's draw up the rear with one point. The Redmen still have a good chance of leading the league, provided that they sweep through the remainder of their schedule undefeated, and that Western beat Varsity in London next Saturday.

Early misplays proved costly to the Tricolor on Saturday, and Davis

Isidor Gorn Shows Brilliant Technique

Plays Both Classical And Modern Musical Works

Isidor Gorn, the New York pianist who came to Montreal for a recital Saturday afternoon at Tudor Hall, proved an entertaining and somewhat unusual performer. He gave a program of Bach, Beethoven, Chopin and the moderns, and it was in the latter that he did his best work.

Advance mention of the pianist's association with the American composer Gershwin led one to expect a far simpler program than was actually given. The opening number, the Bach Prelude and Fugue in A minor, as arranged by Liszt, does not cling as closely to the original as do the transcriptions by either Tausig or Busoni, achieving a more rounded piano technique, in which some of the contrapuntal weight of the music is lost.

In this first number, as in all, Mr. Gorn's adequate technique surmounted most of the normal difficulties, giving it a fine vigour, that made up for the occasional misplaced accent in the fugue. The Sonata Opus 57 by Beethoven was similarly treated, and was given a scholarly reading. Credit is due to the artist for choosing some of the less frequently heard Chopin selections, which he rendered rather pleasingly.

Of the modern group, the two numbers by the Spanish composers Falla and Albeniz were particularly interesting. "The Ritual Fire Dance" by the former is a fantastic piece of work whose technical difficulties alone are enough to stagger even a good pianist, but which, in spite of this, was handled adroitly. The "Cordova" of the latter composer is much more lyrical, with a fine melodic structure. The two Gershwin Preludes, were short arrangements of simple themes, showing noticeably a syncretized rhythm, a pronounced saxophone theme in the first, and recurring of "Rhapsody in Blue" motives in the second.

The Amendment

THE constitutional amendment that provides for abolition of the regular annual and semi-annual meetings of the Students' Society will, if passed, end a situation that has been growing more farcical for the past few years.

Such a move appears to be the logical outcome of the lack of interest in these meetings. Again and again it has been necessary to postpone the annual meeting due to the absence of sufficient members to constitute a quorum. And on those occasions when one hundred students have actually been present, the attendance has not been large enough to be considered a fair representation of the Students' Society. A quorum of one hundred is ridiculously small for an organization of its size.

Of course, this lack of interest on the part of the members cannot be construed as an indication of apathy or laziness. There is little reason why they should be present. The annual and the semi-annual meetings rarely accomplish anything of importance. Their function has of late been chiefly the performing of routine business, with an occasional minor amendment to a little-known constitution. Such a program does not make attendance either enjoyable or beneficial.

It is true that in the future, as in the past, certain important considerations may arise, demanding the attention and decision of the student body. The constitution provides for such an exigency. One section of the article concerning meetings states expressly that meetings may be called on three days notice by the President, or at the request of 25 members of the Society.

With this as a safeguard, it seems likely that the amendment will be accepted by the students—always providing a quorum is present at the next meeting. The objection that too much power will be in the hands of the Students' Council is an invalid one. Should its actions meet with the disapproval of the student body, the latter has an easy recourse by demanding a meeting, and expressing its disapproval.

The amendments, if passed as proposed, will do much to clear up some of the encumbrances that have existed for years. The provision that the closing hour for presidential nomination is to be extended if only one nomination has been received, should ensure that the President, if elected by acclamation, has the full support of the students. Again, another amendment makes provision for sub-amendments to the constitution—an important consideration that has hitherto been omitted.

Hurray, It's Coming!

THE Conversat will not be held this year, but shed no tears, for there will be a Freshman Prom instead. And those who justify the accusation that the art of conversation is lost nowadays will probably be glad of the change. It will be possible to meet a girl without the ordeal of having to talk to her.

It would have been a great pity if no legalized form of the "pick-up method" had been conducted this year. There are still plenty of freshmen naive enough to wish to take out freshettes, and modern educational methods insist that a child should be allowed to burn itself if it wants to, in order to teach it a lesson. As long as the newcomers wish to intermingle it is as well to provide an opportunity for so doing, where there is no danger of a slap in the face, or the cutting rebuke of raised eyebrows.

Just how much of an advantage the introduction of games, dances, and "Paul Jones" will be can not be conjectured. At any rate, more people know how to dance than how to talk. And any one—except those who have not forgotten how important they were at High School—can play games. There is nothing more conducive to intermingling than an enthusiastic game, especially when there is a whimsical fellow at the light switch.

We suppose the charging of upperclassmen is only fair to the freshettes, though it will throw a heavier burden upon the freshmen. The charge is very justifiable, however, for the average upperclassman has had his day. There is a school of thought among the seniors, it is true, which holds that freshettes are fair booty for them. Such an opinion certainly deserves an imposition of fifty cents per capita.

THE THEATRE

Komisarjevsky And Censorship

THERE appeared recently in the English press a notice to the effect that there had been formed under Komisarjevsky a Repertory Theatre in London, with a membership system, and a theatre of their own to be used exclusively for the work of the club. All members are to be admitted to the plays, but the actors themselves will be professionals, and the standard therefore quite on the level of any other shows in London.

The club is unique in the history of Drama in London, not so much for its nature but for its objects. For by making it a private theatre, to which admittance can only be gained by members, it avoids many of the regulations that are only applicable to public performances, chief among which regulations are those of the censor. In consequence, plays which would otherwise not be given a stage in London, can find their outlet in the new theatre, irrespective of their nature, provided they are intrinsically good; and further, as the founder of the venture expressed it, the knowledge that there is such a theatre will induce English playwrights to touch upon themes which they have hitherto scrupulously avoided, in the knowledge that they would never pass the inevitable censorship, which is in many ways stricter than that exercised anywhere else, except Montreal.

The immediate results of this innovation are at once obvious, as it will enlarge considerably the dramatic field of the English playwrights, at the same time offering some of the public at least an increased scope for enjoyment in the rarer branches of the theatre. However, beyond these slight advantages, there is the far more important result of this experiment, which has created a much needed precedent, and made the first big step in professional Drama towards an end which has been suggested and discussed for a long time. The end is the foundation all over the world, in the centres of Drama, of theatres in which uncensored plays shall be produced, as opposed to the ordinary playhouses under censorship; but that the public shall be warned that the play for which they are paying their hard-earned money is perfectly at liberty to shock them, to enrage them, or even bore them; that the author, producers, and actors are under no obligation to them, but that if they like the play, they can come again.

This desirable object is by no means realized by Komisarjevsky, but he has left a way, albeit a narrow one, to this eventual conclusion, and his success will greatly widen that road. How fine a place he has chosen for this victory over Dora is evidenced by the fact that a play like "Green Pastures" was banned in London after two weeks in a public theatre; now it is one of the first plays on this enterprising producer's list! And the list contains others far more likely to astonish and outrage the prudish, who will not be able even to see the objects of their execration.

The intention of this group is not, however, to produce merely plays which cannot be shown in the ordinary theatre, but also to act, in the way in which the Sunday Club, run by Gerald Du Maurier, does, as a sort of advanced workshop department for the coming writer who for a number of reasons, and Commercialism more often than his own mediocrity as a playwright, cannot get a producer to accept his work. The plays written by such men, no matter how they despise the box-office, nor how little they cater to it, will find a trial in the repertory group, who demand only a good PLAY, not a good DRAW.

The same experimental system will apply in less degree to the actors in their plays, who will find the critical audience of members a fine stepping-stone to the public.

THIS reform in London, though done on a far larger scale, has a very close parallel in Montreal, probably the only city with a stricter censor than London; here our Komisarjevsky is the Montreal Repertory Theatre Workshop. By this, no suggestion is implied of the horrible moral perversions, and scenes of debauch that may be seen on the stage in Union Street, but merely the resemblance of the M.R.T.'s intention of producing in the workshop local amateurs' plays; and their general policy, to the group in London.

For in the same way, the M.R.T. have a large membership which alone is the entree to the workshop productions; in the same way the plays there produced, since they are free—and they are purely a membership activity—demand no patronage from their audiences, and are entirely independent of the box-office. Thus, though they are an exclusively amateur concern, yet the M.R.T. have it in their hands to do for Montreal what has been done and will be done, for London.

Movie Reviews

Roland Hayes—Negro Singer

Without a doubt, Roland Hayes' negro spirituals were the best of all the numbers that he gave at His Majesty's yesterday. That old favourite, "Water Boy," an excellent scale for comparison, proved him on an undoubted par with others that have sung here, containing all the feeling and movement ever given it. Of the rest of his program, those songs that were closest to the spirituals in their construction were given best handling.

Hayes sang this classic half of his program in Italian, French, German and English, giving to each of them a distinct, and to our knowledge correct, diction. Purcell's "Passing By," an encore, achieved especial sweetness, reflecting that time in English history, when its music was supreme in Europe. Two other numbers reached the heights of this first, "In Waldeinsamkeit" by Brahms, and "Mandoline" by Debussy.

A tenor voice controllable from a whisper to a rumbling crescendo, pitch and time perfect, these are emblematic of Roland Hayes. The only objection one might hold would be to certain of his mannerisms which tend to be more suited to his own Negro spirituals than to the classic aria. Distinct praise must be paid to his accompanist, Percival Parham, who aided very materially in creating ing the effective musical backgrounds to the rich voice of the singer.

Palace

Norma Shearer usually appears to us as a beautiful woman of the world, with all the atmosphere that lap-dogs and a plethora of divorces can create. But in "Smilin' Through," at the Palace this week, Montreal's Own Actress has a good deal more of the rich red wine of youth in her veins. So, with Frederic March playing with her, it would be difficult to make a very bad picture. Then again there is Leslie Howard, whose name movie fans should jot down in their notebook of memories for future reference.

The story is not original, because it comes from H., but there is a glow of novelty in the refreshing nature of its treatment. And the acting is of high standard—these accomplished stars are not hampered by inexperienced directing. The short subjects are good. They usually are nowadays, if we except interminable newsreels.

Loew's Theatre

Loew's Theatre brings to the screen this week another of those blood-curdling thrillers which have proved so popular of late. If you have seen "Frankenstein," "Dracula," "Jekyll and Hyde" or "Dr. X," you have an idea what this one "Chandu, the Magician," is like. With Bela Lugosi, famed for his performance of Dracula, in the role of Roxor, the mad scientist, and Edmund Lowe as the hero, Chandu, the magician, the picture is well cast. It runs the gamut of thrills and eeriness, aided by some trick photography, with many of the scenes laid in the tombs of Egypt, and mummies, sarcophagi, subterranean channels, snakes, and magic figuring prominently.

The vaudeville program is headed by two good dance acts, Jack and Kay Spangler and "Topics of the Day." Other acts are a juggling act and two comedy acts, which round out a well-balanced bill.

The news includes pictures of the McGill-Varsity football game.

The Capitol

The fine double-bill playing at the Capitol Theatre this week should be highly enjoyed by those who are looking for something original in the way of movie entertainment. Although neither picture individually rises to greatness, together they make up a well-balanced bill.

"Hat Check Girl" has a fast-moving plot, with some amusing situations. Both Sally Eilers, as the check girl in a night-club, and Ben Lyon, as her millionaire lover, act their parts well, although the plot does not give them much opportunity of rising to great dramatic heights.

"A Passport To Hell," with Elissa Landi, Paul Lukas and Warner Oland, deals with the marriage of a girl of rather questionable morals, to a young German officer. Her father-in-law finally succeeds in breaking up her marriage, and driving his son to suicide. Although the ending is rather unsatisfactory, the picture has an original plot, and the whole cast acquit themselves well.

The Imperial

A fine all-round program featuring "Le Sergeant X" at the Imperial forms a good evening's entertainment for those who like a soft-pedal on the Ziegfeld. All the legs on the screen are decorously covered with skirts, which is an old French moving-picture custom.

The outstanding quality of the Paramount feature is the photography rather than the acting, although the latter is fair enough. Ivan Mouskoffine plays a good heavy to Suzy Vernon's remarried mother of his child. The plot is melodramatic with scattered hemorrhages. The scene is laid in Morocco and includes snakes, Arabs, hours, snails, and a concertina. Ivan's remarried wife who supposes him dead arrives at the Foreign Legion Post with her new old man and the little one just before an attack by the Arabs. Ivan makes a fine figure on horseback as he tries to get water for the distressed camp and then reaches the nearest depot and brings assistance to his besieged comrades. He talks it over with the new husband and nobly sacrifices his love so the other man can be happy with his ex-wife.

Cinema de Paris

"Monsieur Albert" is a fascinating and quite novel comedy that is full of clever wit, amusing action, and intelligent direction. To talk of its original plot would not be quite in order, since it has had its counterpart on the screen before—what movie has not?—but this does not detract in the least from the merits of the picture itself.

The scenic beauties of some parts of this picture are quite unsurpassable, and the winter sports about the famous St. Moritz offer an allure even to Canadians, who have little to lack in this respect. Acting honours are almost evenly divided among a large and adequate cast, though Betty Stockfield, an English actress, deserves special mention, along with Noel-Noel and Baron Fils. The newsreel contained a few interesting French items.

CORRESPONDENCE

Scores Conversat

The Editor,
McGill Daily.

Dear Sir:

As an alumnus of the Arts Faculty of this University I beg your indulgence for a few brief remarks I wish to make in regard to the letter from "Four Forlorn Freshettes."

Although it is far from me to deny youth its pleasures, yet I must protest against this spirit of immorality which pervades the utterances of the present generation and which is evident in the rather plaintive note of the forlorn quartet. The institution of the so-called conversat is in itself, if not in conception, subversive to social decorum and accepted standards of good breeding. May I in conclusion say, Sir, that these eyes did not expect to see the day when young women of university standing should be so bold as to openly admit the knowledge of that sordid, but, alas, popular institution of the "pick-up."

Respectfully yours,
ARTS ALUMNUS.

The Editor,
McGill Daily,

Dear Sir:

With regard to the missive which appeared in your Thursday's (Oct. 20) issue, concerning the Conversat, we would like to come to the rescue of the Four Forlorn Freshettes.

If the Four as a whole will appear at sixth pillar in the Arts Building at 1.45 p. m. on Monday, October 24, they will be met by two Arts students, one football player and a ping-pong champion.

We're trusting you,
THE FOUR HORSEMEN.

Sweaters In Vogue At Arts Gathering

Refreshments as Well as Entertainment to Be of High Order

Sweaters are the vogue for the Arts Undergrad Smoker this Thursday evening, and the executive announced that only those who wear them will be allowed into the Ballroom where the Smoker is to be held. Arrangements are being made to enable those attending to check their excess apparel downstairs so that the sweaters may be donned in the Union itself.

Other novelties on the program will include an abundance of hot-dogs, with soft drinks to cool them off. There will, of course, be free smokes to everyone who comes in the correct style for the evening—namely, clad in sweaters.

Max Ford will play a leading role in the evening's entertainment. He has promised a wide variety of novel numbers and will be backed up by several Red and White Revue Comedians whose identity has not yet been revealed. Professional entertainers from a local source will also be in attendance.

The committee in charge asks for the whole-hearted support of the entire faculty of Arts and Science. If this is forthcoming arrangements will be discussed during the course of the evening for a more formal Faculty Entertainment, pending the support of the students.

Further developments in the line of program and special features will be announced shortly.

Many Desirous of Advanced Diplomas

About 250 students are working towards higher degrees at McGill, registration figures in the faculty of graduate studies, to date reveal. Registration however is not quite complete as a few applications have yet to be approved.

So far some 62 have enrolled for Ph. D. studies. There are a total of 93 working for the degree of Master of Arts, 47 for the degree of Master of Science, 19 for Master of Engineering, six for Master of Commerce, and two for the degree of Master of Civil Law.

For the first time the degree of Master of Civil Law is made available this season at McGill, an opportunity of which two graduate students in law took advantage.

Spanish Club

Efforts are being made to form a Spanish Club at McGill. A business meeting is being held tomorrow evening at eight o'clock in the Union Grill Room. All those who are interested in the Spanish Language are asked to be present and lend a third support.

Redmen Take Third Straight Intercollegiate Track Title

ARTS-COMMERCE IN INT'RFACULTY GAME FOR SOCCER TITLE

Winner of Two-Game Series To Play Macdonald College

MCGILL'S second soccer team, captained by Leon Smart, went down to ignominious defeat on Saturday, when they attempted to match kicks with the powerful Macdonald College eleven—last year's interfaculty champions, and strong bidders to retain the title they won in their first year of competition with McGill faculties. The score was 9-1, with Cooper, Innes, and Floyd doing all the scoring for the Aggies.

As these three men occupy regular berths on the McGill intercollegiate team, it was hardly to be hoped for that the make-shift line-up Smart was able to gather, should hold the aggressive and clever Aggie eleven. However, the locals will be out to avenge their defeat on Saturday, by taking Macdonald in the interfaculty finals, which will be played after a winner will have been declared between Arts-Commerce and Theology.

Play Semi-Final Today
The first of the two-game, semi-final series between these faculties will be played this afternoon on the Upper Field at 4:00 p.m.; the final match will take place sometime next week, so that the winning team may meet Macdonald College before the cold weather sets in, and hardens the ground.

All men from the faculties of Arts, Commerce, and Theology are requested to report for the game this afternoon. Substitutes will be used by both sides, Managers Lynn and Janikun, of Theology and Arts-Commerce respectively, have stated, so that every man on the field will be given an opportunity to show his wares.

Poloists In Double Bill With Columbus

Face Strong Teams in First Home Games

COUPONS ACCEPTED

BOTH the McGill polo teams see action again, when they meet the strong Columbus squads in a regular-league doubleheader tonight. These games will be played at the Columbus pool on Mountain street, and are McGill's first home games of the season, athletic coupons being accepted from students.

Although the Redmen met defeat in their first efforts against the Y.M.H.A., they are in no way disheartened. The games last Wednesday were their first in the league this season, and with a new lineup on both the senior and junior squads, the boys have not yet got their combinations clicking. Once the Red poloists get to know each others' style of play, victories are assured.

Hard Games Expected

The senior lineup for tonight is the same as that which stacked up against the "Y" on Wednesday. The juniors, however, have not yet been definitely selected. Since Coach Vickerson wishes to give many of his junior candidates an opportunity to show what they can do, in actual competition. Neither team will, however, have an easy task on their hands when they meet the Columbus aggregation. The Columbus seniors are one of the most formidable threats in the city league, even though they have only managed a tie in each of their last two starts. The Columbus Reds, who play the juniors, are also a fine polo team, and it will be much to the Redmen's credit if they can manage a win.

The following will be at the Columbus pool at 8:15 tonight.

Seniors: Wayland, Shaw, Shragovitch, Shapiro, Stein, McLean, French.
Juniors: Tessier, Ripstein, Smythe, Percy, MacLure, Silverstone, Lyman, Paton, Blakely.

WOMEN'S A. A. MEETS

The semi-annual meeting of the McGill Women Students' Athletic Association will be held in the common room of the Royal Victoria College, on Thursday, October 27th at three o'clock.

Various business will be considered. "It is extremely important that all members be present," stated the President, Sally Hay.

Arts-Commerce Soccer

The following men are requested to report for this afternoon's game against Theology, from which a winner will be declared to play Macdonald College for the interfaculty title: Ross, Owen, Minnion, Crabtree, Nolan, Carter, Cooper, Minnion, Crabtree, Janikun, and any others who would like to represent their faculty. Everyone will be given a game.

Red Tennis Team Captures Doubles And Singles Titles

Forced to Share Championship With Varsity Squad

THE Red and Blue tennis team ended three days of championship play with the score reading 13 points in favor of each team. This is the first time in the history of intercollegiate competition that this has happened. While the Redmen did not gain sole possession of the crown, yet they had the satisfaction of taking both the singles and doubles championships. The tournament was one of upsets with nearly all the favored teams eliminated in the early rounds.

Laird Watt won the singles crown after a hard battle with E. Carruth of Toronto in three straight sets 6-4; 6-4; 9-7. Down 5-2 in the third set he made a brilliant recovery to take the set and match 8-1. Farmer and Murray took the doubles crown when they downed Zimekman and Hermant to the tune 6-2; 6-1; 6-2. To get into the finals the Red doubles team defeated both the Toronto and Queen's first teams. They did not lose a set in the three days play.

Watt Elected Captain
Following the play Laird Watt was elected captain of next year's team, while Kenny Farmer was elected manager. As a result of their fine work in the tournament Watt wins his senior letter for the first time with Farmer taking his for the second time.

McGill Loses Fourth English Rugby Game

M.A.A.A. Beats Students by 12-0 Score

KEENLY CONTESTED

On the M. A. A. ground in a gusty cross wind that made kicking throughout the game difficult McGill lost on Saturday their fourth game in the McTier Cup competition, after fiercely contested match, remarkable for the swift scoring of the winning team. M. A. A. won by a 12-0 score. The two teams settled down early in the first half with the M. A. A. backs playing a fast open game, while the McGill forwards were getting the better of most of the loose play, though they were not letting the ball back fast enough from the tight scrums to enable their three to get moving. After a few rushes by the pack the game moved to the visitors' half, and the M. A. A. were pressing strongly for most of the half without breaking the McGill defence.

Soon after play commenced McGill got a drop-out which relieved the tension for a moment, but in spite of a useful rush by Wootton and Hope from some untidy passing, the home centres took play back to the McGill line; and from the scrum spilt a perfect scoring position by a knock-on. The left centre then failed with a drop at the McGill goal, and McGill went into their half with a series of rushes and a neat run by Rice. M. A. A. returned to McGill territory and after some continued raiding, a blind-side movement near the visitors' line sent the left wing in for the first try.

M. A. A. Score Try

From the resumption, the M. A. A. A. three got moving and took the ball into McGill territory with a kick ahead; and then outrunning the visitors' backs carried the movement over the line for a clever try on the left wing which was unconverted. So far McGill had not looked like scoring as, with the exception of Wilson, who was playing a fine game, and occasional bursts by Rice, the backs' handling and tackling was poor. Now they picked up slightly and took the game into midfield; however the M. A. A. left centre, who was outpacing Wootton brought play back to the twenty-five, and despite a strong run by Rice with Davis backing up well, half time came without further scoring.

In the second half the McGill pack began to get the ball in the tight, and Macdonald, Wilson, whose tackling was a feature of the game, and Rice made several unsuccessful attempts to cross the home line. M. A. A. were faster behind the scrum and kept McGill largely on the defensive, eventually scoring their third try with a scramble on the visitors' twenty-five, and adding another through the right wing near the end of the game, which finished with the score, twelve nil in their favour.

Hockey Practice

All those interested in playing senior hockey are asked to turn out this afternoon, at 5:00 p. m. at the Stadium for Physical Training.

Score Easy Win Against Both Rivals

Drew And Edwards Lead Squad With Impressive Victories

TRICOLOR CAPTURES BOTH SPRINT EVENTS

Monahan And Wallace Win In Two Field Events

LED by Phil Edwards, Charlie Drew, Clarrie Frankton and Jimmy Worrall the McGill track team swept to victory in the annual meet in Toronto, Friday, by the one-sided score of 73 to Varsity's 47 and Queen's 15. The Queens runners were outmanned and did well to take both sprints through T. H. Way. McGill was never in difficulty at any time.

Edwards to Fore
Phil Edwards was the ace of the red pack and made 11 points single-handed with a win in the 440, and seconds in the 220 and 830. Jimmy Worrall bagged nine counters winning the 220-low-hurdles and taking a second in the high hurdles and a third in the high jump. In addition, he raced the anchor lap on the relay team and almost snatched victory from Varsity, with a gallant effort which was just short of success. Clarrie Frankton took an easy second to Jeff Goode in the mile and then went on to win the three mile event.

Monahan and Wallace were the McGill point winners in the field, the former taking the javelin throw and the latter registering a particularly fine effort to win the pole vault with a leap of 10 feet 11 inches. As a whole the team functioned well up to form and Coach Van Wagner brought McGill its third successive track championship since 1930.

Track Events

100-yard dash: T. H. Way, Queen's, won; H. K. Crabtree, McGill, second; F. N. Smith, Toronto, third. Time, 10 1-5 seconds.

120 yards, high hurdles: C. R. Drew, McGill, won; J. Worrall, McGill, second; J. J. Hickey, Toronto, third. Time, 18 seconds.

220-yard dash: T. H. Way, Queen's, won; P. A. Edwards, McGill, second; K. Running, Queen's, third. Time, 23 2-5 seconds.

220 yards, low hurdles: J. Worrall, McGill, won; J. J. Hickey, Toronto, second; J. A. Hutchins, McGill, third. Time, 26 2-5 seconds.

440-yard dash: P. A. Edwards, McGill, won; R. G. Sampson, McGill, second; J. I. Stewart, Toronto, third. Time, 51 seconds.

880-yard run: R. G. Sampson, McGill, won; P. A. Edwards, McGill, second; H. J. MacFie, Toronto, third. Time, 2:05.

One-mile run: R. J. C. Goode, McGill, won; C. Frankton, McGill, second; J. B. McLennan, Toronto, third. Time, 4:38 4-5.

One-mile relay: University of Toronto (Byrne, MacFie, Penlington, Stewart), won; McGill, second; Queen's, third. Time, 3:35.

Three-mile run: C. Frankton, McGill, won; W. E. Kibblewhite, Toronto, second; R. G. Thompson, Toronto, third. Time, 15:55.

Field Events

Running high jump: K. S. Ford, Toronto, won; C. R. Drew, McGill, second; J. Worrall, McGill, third. Height, 5 feet 9 1/2 inches.

Tragedy At R. M. C. Postpones Soccer Game On Saturday

Drowning Accident to Cadet Defers Redmen's Intercollegiate Fixture

DUE to the tragic end of Cadet M. A. Buck, which has thrown all of R. M. C. into deep mourning, the Redmen's soccer game, scheduled to be played at the Limestone City on Saturday, has been indefinitely postponed. Thus Coach Finlay's men will tackle the title-holding Varsity soccermen before engaging in their match against the cadets.

Tomorrow the first team will be put through a practice match against the seconds, who—despite the stiff beating they took on Saturday from Macdonald College—will provide the necessary opposition to keep the intercollegiate outfit in proper condition.

Night Game Thursday

The Redmen's annual exhibition match against the pick of the Junior Division will be in the nature of a night game on Thursday, Oct. 27, under the Stadium floodlights. In the past few years, the city men have proved superior, due no doubt to the many months of play that they have just completed. This year the opposition is expected to be of the toughest nature, since the race for the Junior Division title has been exceptionally keenly contested, and many experienced footballers will be in the line-up on Thursday night.

Nationals Trim Red Team 9-0 Saturday

Heavy Railroaders Tear Big Holes in McGill's Line

DON SMITH STARS

THE Canadian Nationals have avenged their defeat of Wednesday night, by handing out a 9-0 trimming to George McTeer's hard fighting intermediates, on Saturday afternoon, at Point St. Charles.

Dunc Smith starred for the Dave Rollo outfit, kicking eight of the Railroaders nine points, after Clarry Booth had been taken out of the game with an injured shoulder. The Red team did not seem to be able to get its plays clicking and resorted to kicking in the early stages of the first period, but C. N. R. ran the punts back for long gains.

Red Team Crumbles

The McTeermen opened strongly and held their opponents scoreless, but they weakened in the second and third frames, allowing the C. N. R. gladiators their nine points. The last quarter was scoreless, McGill fighting to avoid a whitewash and the Canadian Nationals for retribution.

The lineup follows:

TORONTO CAPTURES GOLF CHAMPIONSHIP IN ANNUAL TOURNEY

Archambault And Rea Make Best Scores In Singles

TORONTO retained supremacy in the intercollegiate golf world championship by defeating McGill 5-4 as the result of two day's tournament at Toronto Friday and Saturday. The first day's play was devoted to the singles championship while the second day was taken up by two-ball matches.

Archambault of the University of Montreal turned in the most outstanding performance of the tournament when he played 36 holes in 150. The next best score was made by Capt. Fred Rea of Toronto who did the 36 in 155. Findlay of McGill was unable to compete in the singles on Friday due to illness.

Calder Wins

McGill's points were made by two wins in the singles and two in the doubles. Bob Costello and Tommy Calder won their singles engagements. In the two-ball matches the two teams of Brodie-Cageorge and Findlay-Calder garnered wins.

FROSHHANDBISHOPS INITIALDEFEAT, 14-6

Westman Leads Red Team To First Win in Three Starts

THE freshman football team scored their first win of the season, when they defeated Bishops College 14-6 at Lennoxville on Saturday. It was the first setback of the year for the purple squad and gives the McGill team a slim mathematical possibility of winning the championship. The Red team played their best game of the season, Herb Westman in particular turning in a brilliant game and scoring ten of his team's fourteen points. Glass and Masson were best for Bishops.

Bishops took the lead half way through the first half when Masson broke through the line for a touchdown which was not converted. As the result of a forward pass from McKenzie, Westman succeeded in tying the score with a touchdown but failed to make the convert. A kick to the deadline by Glass with but a minute of the first half to play gave the home team the lead, 6-5. Heavy rain at this time made the going slippery and loose play featured the second half. Westman scored on a drop kick from 25 yards out to place McGill ahead 8-6. A fumble behind the Bishops line was taken for a touchdown by a McGill outside. Westman kicked to the deadline to make the score 14-6.

The teams lined up as follows:

McGill	Bishops
Grant.....flying wing.....Glass
Edson.....half.....Masson

Hockey

Tonight, Wednesday, and Friday nights, Coach Bobbie Bell will have prospective puckmen do their P. T. under the vigilant eye of Bert Light at the Field House. Tomorrow night, Dr. Bell will address all hockey men in an informal "Get Together," when he will discuss future games for all the teams, new rules, etc. All men are invited to attend both the P. T. groups and the meeting.

is because it is done for the benefit of the private capitalist and not for the benefit of himself or the community. In Russia it is done for the sake of the community of which he forms a part. Ability gets men public recognition of their fine services to the community. All officials are in the Party which is anti-religious in principle. "Religious worship did not appear to be molested. The educational system" he continued, "preaches an anti-religious society. Religious instruction is prohibited to children under 18 except in their own homes. Communism is their religion." Mr. Forsey described Romanoff glorifying himself. These pictures of saints with the face of were exhibited in the anti-religious museums. "The women in Russia do hard physical work," he admitted. On the other hand every opportunity, every field of endeavor is open to them.

Committee Plans Open Meeting Every Sunday

The Students' Christian Association held their first Open House of the season last evening in Strathcona Hall. The crowd present was not large but sufficient to ensure the continuance of these meetings. The evening was featured by music, singing and refreshments. Freda Peden acted as hostess.
The committee in charge, headed by Jean Dunlop, plans on holding Open House every Sunday evening and intends to have distinguished guests present from time to time. All students, professors and their friends, are cordially invited to drop in some Sunday and meet the other members and visitors present.

Attention Trackmen

All candidates for the intermediate track team must be at the Field House between 4.00 and 6.00 this afternoon, when the final selection for the team will be made.

Queen's And McGill Play 12-12 Draw

fumble of Craig's kick gave McGill possession of the ball on Queen's 40. From there, Craig booted to Davoud, who was fouled for the first point of the game. The Redmen's touchdown came a little later, when Howie Carter missed his kick, and Lee dropped on the ball over the Queen's line. The latter also converted it on the next play. Shortly later, Davoud passed wide to Davis on an end run, and McGill retrieved the sphere on the Queen's 35. Craig booted to deadline for the Redmen's eighth point, and the last tally of the opening quarter.

Queen's Buck Up

The Tricolor began playing better football with the start of the second canto, and steady hoofing on the part of Howie Carter bore fruit, when Ralph grassed Riddell behind the McGill line for one point. After two downs had failed to yield the required yardage, Craig kicked to Davoud on McGill's 50. Kennedy hit centre for seven yards, and Carter kicked once more to Riddell behind the line, and again Ralph, Kingston outside, smeared the Red halfback.

Good line plunging by Olker and a beautiful forward pass from Gilbert to Lee for a gain of 25 yards, put the Redmen in possession on Queen's 35. On two downs, McGill crashed for eight yards, and Olker completed to the Tricolor 20. Olker hit the line twice for four yards, and put Lee in perfect position for a drop kick that clicked, raising the Redmen's score to 11. It was only then that the Kingstons began to fight in earnest. Davoud, on the kick-off, booted to deadline, to put the half-time score at McGill 11; Queen's 3.

The third stanza saw the Queen's place between McGill and the British rators.
Their morning on Thursday is free, while they will attend a luncheon at noon. After this they will take in a theatre, followed by the Law Banquet in the evening. On Friday they will be driven to St. Anne to take place in a debate against Macdonald College. The judges of the debate for Wednesday evening will be Wesley Frost, American Consul, and Jean St. Germain, a well-known lawyer of this city. The name of the third judge is not yet known.

squad reappear in the battle for a victory. Carter kicked to deadline, Davoud booted a placement, and then came the worst shock of all to McGill supporters—the Queen's touch. That try was a masterpiece. Davoud had tried a placement, which went wide. Stevens, behind the McGill line ran forward to catch the ball, but slipped before he got there. Meanwhile, the ball landed and bounced on Stevens' helmet, just as Gorman, Tricolor outside, streaked by and picked the ball up to plant it behind the posts for the try that saw the Queen's twelve jump into the lead.

In the middle of the final quarter, two successful forwards, Gilbert to Young, put the Redmen on the Queen's 25, and Craig kicked the tying point. The battle then waged up and down the field, but there was no further scoring. Game over: McGill, 12; Queen's, 12.
